PROFESSOR G. M. BOLLING, Ohio State University.

PROFESSOR FRANKLIN EDGERTON, Yale University.

The Linguistic Society of America was founded in December, 1924, for the advancement of the scientific study of language. The Society plans to promote this aim by bringing students of language together in its meetings, and by publishing the fruits of research. It has established a quarterly journal, a series of language monographs, and a series of language dissertations; the last two will appear at irregular intervals, according to the material offered to the Committee on Publications and the funds available for the purpose. Members will receive all in return for the annual dues of Five Dollars.

Membership in the Society is not restricted to professed scholars in linguistics. All persons, whether men or women, who are in sympathy with the objects of the Society, are invited to give it their assistance in furthering its work. Application for membership should be made to the Secretary, Professor Roland G. Kent, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

Entered as Second Class Matter at the Postoffice at Baltimore, Maryland.

This Journal is published quarterly by the Linguistic Society of America. Members of the Society receive it without extra charge, three dollars of the annual dues being appropriated for this purpose; to others, its price is five dollars per annum. Subscriptions and other business communications should be addressed to Language, or to Roland G. Kent, Treasurer, L. S. A., University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa. Manuscripts for publication should be sent to George Melville Bolling, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

PROCEEDINGS
LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA
AT THE TWELFTH ANNUAL MEETING
NEW YORK, DECEMBER 26-28, 1935

The Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Society was held at New York City, on Thursday to Saturday, December 26 to 28, 1935, jointly with the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America. The headquarters of the Society were in the Hotel Astor; the registration office and all the meetings were located on the eighth floor of the hotel.

Record was secured of the attendance of the following members and members-elect; other members were present, but failed to give their names to the Secretary:

R. L. Ward, Miss E. C. Weinberg, B. L. Whorf, J. Whatmough, H. R. Wolf.
Mrs. A. R. Zollinger. Total, 114.

The Pierpont Morgan Library, 29 East 36th Street, had a special exhibition of illuminated manuscripts and drawings illustrating the Christmas festival, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art had special exhibitions on view. Both Museums invited members of the Societies to visit these exhibitions. Mr. George A. Plimpton invited members to view his collection of rare books in his library, on Friday afternoon.

The Local Committee, acting for the three societies, consisted of W. L. Carr, Chairman; Allan P. Ball, Dorothy M. Bell, Francis P. Donnelly, Patrick J. Downing, Anna P. MacVay, Edward T. Newell, George A. Plimpton, Ernst Riess, Floyd A. Spencer, La Rue Van Hook, Eleanor D. Whitehead, Herbert E. Wenlock; of these, Messrs. Ball and Riess represented the Linguistic Society.

The First Session of the Linguistic Society was held in the College Hall of the Hotel Astor, on the afternoon of Thursday, December 26. President Bloomfield called the meeting to order at 2.05 P.M. About 75 persons were present at the session. The reading of papers was at once begun:

- Prof. Max A. Luria, of Brooklyn College: The Pronunciation of Siegal in the Old Spanish Glosses of Silos.
- Prof. Alfred P. Kehlenbeck (Iowa State College): The Development of Germanic e before i in the Low German Dialect of Williamsburg, Iowa. (Presented by title only, in the absence of the author.)
- Prof. Edward Sapir, of Yale University: Certain Tocharian Phonetic Laws. (Presented by title only, in the absence of the author.)
- Prof. Carl Reuning, of Swarthmore College: Verbal Aspect. Discussion by Messrs. Kent, Whorf, Miss Hahn, Miss Haas, Messrs. Luria, Swadesh, Bolling, Newman, Bloch, Olli, Cross, Buck, Miss Clafin, Mr. Lebel.
- Dr. Morris Swadesh, of Yale University: Pattern in the Phonemic Interpretation of Consonantal Geminates. Discussion by Mr. Trager.

Dr. John B. Olli, of City College (New York City): Finnic Consonant Gradation. Discussion by Messrs. Swadesh, Kent, Cross, Faye, Edgerton, Paschall, Manning.

Adjournment was taken at 4.15 P.M.

A dinner was held under the auspices of The Friends of Horace, an informal organization, at 6.30 P.M., on Thursday, December 26, in the East Ballroom of the Hotel Astor. Special tables were reserved for the members and friends of the Linguistic Society.

The Second Session of the Linguistic Society was held on the evening of Thursday, December 26, jointly with the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America, in the North Ballroom of the Hotel Astor. The meeting was called to order at 8.35 P.M. by President Louis E. Lord, of the Archaeological Institute, who presided, and introduced Professor Berthold Louis Ullman, of the University of Chicago, President of the American Philological Association, as the speaker of the evening. His presidential address was upon Horace and the Philologists.

At the conclusion of the address a social gathering and smoker was held in the same room.

The Third Session of the Linguistic Society was held on the morning of Friday, December 27, in the College Hall of the Hotel Astor. President Bloomfield called the meeting to order at 9.25 A.M. About 90 persons were present at the session. The business of the Society occupied the first part of the Session.

By motion, the reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with, as they had already been printed in LANGUAGE 11.53-66.

The Secretary, Prof. R. G. Kent, presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

For the year 1935 the membership statistics are as follows: For the year 1934 there were 441 members (apart from Honorary Members), of whom 9 died during the year: D. S. Blondheim, R. B. Dixon, J. Hatheway, R. T. Holbrook, H. R. Lang, B. Laufer, C. W. E. Miller, S. Moore, S. L. M. Rosenberg; 24 (H. S. Alexander, N. D. Blair, R. Brandstetter, H. W. Comfort, R. W. Cope, H. G. Creel, R. E. Dengler, H. B. Dunkel, F. J. Feinler, M. C. Fitzpatrick, A. I. Hallowell, J. W. Holt, A. V. W. Jackson, D. B. Kaufman, E. Y. Lindsay, M. F. Martin, M. K. Mason, E. H. Mensel, A. I. Miller, J. R. Oliver, G. A. Plimpton, L. J.

Rosenwald, E. J. Spencer, H. B. Van Deventer) presented their resignations, effective at the end of 1934; and 9 were dropped from the membership list, as directed by the Constitution of the Society in the case of those who have failed for two years to pay the membership dues. The net membership with which the Society started 1935 was, therefore, 399; the new members for 1935 are 46. The total membership for 1935, in addition to the 23 Honorary Members, is accordingly 445; of these, 11 are unpaid for 1934-5 and subject to being dropped from the rolls at this time, and 39 are unpaid for 1935. We regretfully record the death of seven active members in 1935: L. Allen, E. B. Babcock, H. Collitz, J. P. Hoskins, A. T. Jenkins, M. Parry, W. P. Woodman; and of two Honorary Members: E. Setälä, K. Luick.

J. Kepke, by the payment of the statutory sum, has become our fourth Life Member, and his Life Membership fee has been added to the principal of the Endowment Fund. His example is one which deserves to be followed.

The library subscriptions have increased from 141 to 146, by the loss of 4 and the addition of 9. Of the 147, there are 59 foreign subscriptions.

The exchanges and copies for review have decreased from 77 to 76, by the discontinuance of two and the addition of one.

The number of foreign scholars now receiving the publications of the Society gratuitously is 117.

It is a pleasure to put on record that the serious loss in membership suffered in 1933 and 1934 has been checked, and that there is for the year 1935 a net gain of 4 members, quite apart from the increase of 5 library subscriptions. This happy outcome is attributable, in part, to a decrease in the number of resignations, which apparently reflects a somewhat improved financial condition in the country, but is even more to be attributed to the activity of members in securing the adherence of others who had previously not been drawn within our membership. The number of new members in 1935 actually exceeds by two the number of new members in 1933 and 1934 taken together. The continued activity of our members along these lines should ensure further advance during the coming year.

It will be noted that the estimated net balance of current funds at the end of 1935 is set at $2702.71, while it was actually $2931.57 at the end of 1934 and $3448.08 at the end of 1933. This shrinkage may be attributed to several causes: the decrease in the membership, now happily brought to a halt; the printing of the Index to LANGUAGE VI-X, which was properly a charge to be distributed over the years 1930-34, during which these volumes were printed; and the increased allowance to the Secretary-Treasurer and to the Editor, for personal services, clerical help, etc. The Treasurer will make a special effort to see that no further decrease is suffered in the resources of the Society.

The report of the Trustees of the Endowment Fund is here appended:

The Trustees of the Endowment Fund report that during the year 1935 the sum of $85.00 has been received for the Endowment Fund of the Society, as Life Membership Fee of John Kepke; and that this sum has been placed in the Five Thousand Dollar United States Treasury Bond, due 1951-55, releasing the same amount of current funds used in the purchase of this bond in 1933. The $5000 Bond is held by the First National Bank of Philadelphia, Centennial Branch, for the Trustees, subject to withdrawal by the Treasurer acting with one other Trustee.

The Endowment Funds are therefore as follows:

Linguistic Society of America.....	$1104.00
Linguistic Institute.....	$2092.00

The funds are thus invested:

1 $5000 Three per cent United States Treasury Bond, 1951-55, purchased for.....	$4937.50
--	-----------

This Bond therefore includes $1741.50 of current funds.

The treasurer reports the receipt of the interest due on this Bond, and that the proportionate part, $64.42, has been placed to the credit of the Linguistic Institute.

President Bloomfield announced that he had previously appointed as Auditors Mr. Odgers and Mrs. Fleet, and in that they had already examined the accounts and the report of the Treasurer for the period Dec. 22, 1934, to Dec. 21, 1935, and found them correct; whereupon on motion the report of the Treasurer was adopted.

On behalf of the Executive Committee, the Secretary presented the following report:

During the year the Executive Committee, acting by correspondence, fixed the time and place of the present meeting, elected to membership several lists of nominees published in LANGUAGE as elected in 1935, and arranged the program of the present meeting.

The President appointed Professor Franklin Edgerton to succeed himself on the Standing Committee on Research, for a term of three years, ending February 1, 1938; appointed Dr. Earle B. Babcock to represent the Society at the Second Congress of the Association Guillaume Budé, held at Nice, in Easter Week; appointed Professor Hans Kurath and Dr. Murray B. Emeneau as delegates of the Society at the Second International Congress of Phonetic Sciences, held at London, July 22-26; and appointed Professor W. F. Albright and Professor N. J. Reich as delegates of the Society at the Nineteenth International Congress of Orientalists, held at Rome, September 23-28. Dr. Babcock, we regret to report, died shortly before the Congress took place to which he was delegated; but the other delegates were able to attend the respective Congresses.

With the proposal of a revived Linguistic Institute under the leadership of Professor C. C. Fries, of the University of Michigan, the President of the Society, acting under the authority of the Society's vote on December 30, 1933 (see LANGUAGE 10.80), appointed as a Committee of the Society the following: C. C. Fries, Chairman; R. G. Kent, E. H. Sturtevant, N. L. Willey, W. H. Worrell.

The Executive Committee, with the Committee on Publications, met on Thursday, December 26, at 10.00 P.M., in Rooms C-D of the Hotel Astor (eighth floor). Present, President Bloomfield, presiding, and Messrs. Barret, Bolling, Kent; also, by invitation, Messrs. Bassett, Edgerton, Mrs. Fleet, Mr. Götze, Miss Hahn, Messrs. Hanley, Kurath, Nordmeyer, Oldfather, Roedder, Senn, E. H. Sturtevant, Swadesh, Trager.

The reports of the Secretary, of the Treasurer, of the Editor, of the Chairman of the Standing Committee on Research, of the Delegates to the American Council of Learned Societies, and of the Delegates to the International Congresses were informally presented and their contents considered. Additional nominees for membership in the Society were elected.

In accord with its announced intention (see LANGUAGE 11.60), the Executive Committee recommends the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution of the Society (printed in LANGUAGE 8.78-80):

Insert in the Constitution in Article 2, between Sections 5 and 6 a new Section 6, as follows, renumbering the old Section 6 and later Sections accordingly: Any active member who has retired from the active exercise of teaching or other profession may, on the recommendation of the Executive Committee and the vote of the Society, be relieved from further payment of annual dues without loss of any of the privileges of active membership.

In case of the adoption of this amendment, the Executive Committee recommends that Francis A. Wood, Professor Emeritus of the University of Chicago, be exempted from payment of dues, beginning with the year 1936.

The Executive Committee considered a number of nominations for Honorary Membership, and in accordance with Article II, Section 7 of the Constitution (as numbered after the recommended amendment), it recommends that

Prof. Dr. J. Endzelin, of Riga, Latvia

Dr. Daniel Jones, of London, England be elected to Honorary Membership.

Prof. E. H. Sturtevant, for the Committee on the Linguistic Institute, in the absence of the Chairman, Prof. C. C. Fries, reported that in April 1935 he and the Secretary of the Society had conferred at Ann Arbor with Prof. Fries and others on the subject of a revived Linguistic Institute; that as a result the Committee has been appointed by the President of the Society, and that the same persons, with the addition of the Director of the Summer School, had been named as a Committee by the University of Michigan; that arrangements were now in progress for a Linguistic Institute in the summer of 1936, with a large number of courses in languages, offered by the local Faculty and two scholars invited from outside, H. Keniston and E. H. Sturtevant, and that others were to be invited; that there was a probability that a series of public lectures on linguistic topics would be given by faculty members and invited scholars. The Executive Committee recommends that a sum not exceeding $300.00, of the current funds of the Linguistic Institute, be placed at the disposal of the Committee, to pay the expense of bringing lecturers to Ann Arbor to give public lectures on linguistic subjects.

On the proposal of Prof. M. L. Hanley, the Executive Committee recommends that the President of the Society be authorized to appoint a Committee of three, to make a written report to the Executive Committee before the next meeting of the Society, on the present status of college and university courses announced under the name of Phonetics, this to be done in conference with similar committees appointed by other associations.

Dr. George Nordmeyer presented a plan for an annual bibliography of linguistic studies published by American scholars and by scholars resident in the United States and Canada. The Executive Committee recommends that a Committee of three, consisting of the Editor, the Secretary, and Dr. Nordmeyer, be appointed to consider the project, and to put it into effect if it approves itself to them, and involves no expense other than that of printing, within the limits for which the Treasurer certifies that funds are available.

The Executive Committee recommends that the Treasurer be authorized to include in the next price-list of the Society's publications Prof. Hanley's Linguistic Records Nos. 1 and 2 (on Zulu Phonetics), and any other similar linguistic phonographic records which have been scientifically prepared.

The Executive Committee considered a number of other matters, which did not seem however to require formal action.

The Executive Committee asks that the Society express its approval of these actions and recommendations.

The report was ordered to be received and filed.

On motion, the amendment to the Constitution was adopted.

On motion, under the terms of the newly adopted Article II, Section 6, Professor Emeritus Francis A. Wood was relieved of the payment of dues to the treasury of the Society.

On motion, Prof. J. Endzelin and Dr. Daniel Jones were elected to Honorary Membership in the Society.

On motion, a sum of not exceeding $300.00 of the current funds of the Linguistic Institute was placed at the disposal of the Committee on the Linguistic Institute, to pay the expense of bringing lecturers to Ann Arbor to give public lectures on linguistic subjects.

On motion, the President of the Society was authorized to appoint a Committee of three, to make a written report to the Executive Committee before the next meeting of the Society, on the present status of college and university courses announced under the name of Phonetics, this to be done in conference with similar committees appointed by other associations.

On motion, it was voted to appoint a Committee of three, consisting of the Editor, the Secretary, and Dr. George Nordmeyer, to consider the project of a linguistic bibliography of the work of American scholars and scholars resident in the United States and Canada; the Executive Committee's recommendation being amended by the omission of its remaining provisions.

On motion, the Treasurer was authorized to include in the price-list of the Society's publications Mr. Hanley's Linguistic Records and other scientifically prepared linguistic records.

On motion, the remaining actions of the Executive Committee were approved.

Prof. G. M. Bolling, Editor of the Publications of the Society and Chairman of the Committee on Publications, presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

For the Committee on Publications I have the honor to report that the Society has issued the following Regular Publications in the year 1935:

LANGUAGE, Volume 11, 4 issues, 368 pages; including an Index to Volumes 6-10, prepared by Maria Wilkins Smith.

Language Monograph No. 16: W. Freeman Twaddell, On Defining the Phoneme, 62 pages.

Language Dissertation No. 19: Luise Haessler, Old High German biteilen and biskerien, 105 pages; University of Chicago Dissertation.

Language Dissertation No. 20: Ethel G. Aginsky, A Grammar of the Mende Language, 111 pages; Columbia University Dissertation.

The following Special Publication was issued:

Edgar H. Sturtevant and George Bechtel, A Hittite Chrestomathy, 230 pages (William Dwight Whitney Linguistic Series of Yale University).

Attention is called to the changes in the schedule for LANGUAGE, which is effective with the beginning of 1936.

The Chairman takes pleasure in expressing his thanks to members of the Society, other than those on the Committee, for assistance rendered. Above all, he is grateful to Professor Roland G. Kent, who has been even for him unusually helpful.

Prof. E. H. Sturtevant, for the Standing Committee on Research (E. H. Sturtevant, Chairman, term expiring Feb. 1, 1937; G. M. Bolling, term expiring Feb. 1, 1936; F. Edgerton, term expiring Feb. 1, 1938) presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

Your Committee has to report that the one application which it presented to the American Council of Learned Societies in 1924 (see Lang. 11.62) was not granted. During 1935 such projects as were laid before the Committee have been considered, but no recommendations have been made.

Prof. E. H. Sturtevant, for the Committee on the Linguistic Institute (C. C. Fries, Chairman; R. G. Kent, E. H. Sturtevant, N. L. Willey, W. H. Worrell), called attention to the paragraph about the Linguistic Institute in the report of the Executive Committee, and moved that the Executive Committee be authorized to arrange a session of the Linguistic Institute in 1937. The motion was seconded and carried.

Prof. E. H. Sturtevant, for the Delegates to the American Council of Learned Societies (E. H. Sturtevant, E. Prokosch), presented the following report, which was ordered to be received and filed:

The annual meeting of the American Council of Learned Societies was held in Boston, February 1-2, 1935. The Linguistic Society of America was represented by its two delegates, Eduard Prokosch and E. H. Sturtevant, and by its secretary.

During the year the following projects of importance to linguistic science were supported by the Council: The Linguistic Atlas of the United States and Canada, a project of the Council; research in American Indian languages, a project of the Council; the Middle English Dictionary, a project of the University of Michigan; a Descriptive Grammar of English, a project of Yale University; study of the non-Aryan languages of India, a project of Yale University.

The Council is prepared to extend aid to the publication of books in the field of the humanities, including linguistic science. Applications must be presented to the Council by March 1, 1935. If application is made by the Linguistic Society, the manuscript should be in the hands of the Committee on Research not later than February 1.

For the Delegates (H. Kurath, M. B. Emeneau) to the Second International Congress of Phonetic Sciences, held at London, July 22-26 1935, Prof. Kurath reported that his detailed report would be printed in the Miscellanea of LANGUAGE XII, No. 1; and the Secretary presented the report sent in by Dr. Emeneau, and handed it to the Editor, for publication in the same place.

For the Delegates (W. F. Albright, N. J. Reich) to the International Congress of Orientalists, held at Rome, September 23-29, 1935, the Secretary presented Prof. Reich's report, as follows:

Both delegates attended the sessions and the receptions of the XIXth International Congress of Orientalists at Rome, Sept. 23-8, 1935, and both presented papers in their respective fields. Several other American scholars also were in attendance. The Congress was mostly conducted in specialized sections, which prevented any one scholar from hearing a great percentage of the papers. Many of the papers dealt with linguistic problems, of great interest, and will be accessible in full or in abstract in the published Proceedings.

The President announced that at an earlier date he had appointed as Committee to Nominate Officers for 1936 the following: Edwin B. Williams, Chairman; Edward P. Davis, J. Whatmough.

Prof. Davis informally presented the report of the Committee on Nominations, and the President invited nominations from the floor; there being none, the report was filed for action at the Saturday morning session.

The President announced the Committee to report on Phonetics Courses: M. L. Hanley, Chairman; R. H. Stetson, J. S. Kenyon.

The President appointed as Committee on Resolutions J. Whatmough and Miss L. Haessler.

Dr. Swadesh called attention to the need for cooperation in bibliographies, especially in linguistic bibliographies, so as to cover the field completely, and also to eliminate needless bibliographies and those of poor quality.

There being no further business, the reading of papers was commenced:

Prof. Edwin C. Roedder, of City College (New York City): Gothic gasaihwan, a study in Germanic synonyms. Discussion by Mr. Porterfield.

Prof. Albrecht Götze, of Yale University: The t-Form of the Akkadian Verb. Discussion by Messrs. Ward, Speiser, Rice, Faye.

Prof. Edward H. Sehrt, of George Washington University: The Old High German Verbal Ending -mēs. (Presented by title only, in the absence of the author.)

Prof. C. C. Rice, of Catawba College (Salisbury, N. C.): Hispanic Etymologies. Discussion by Mr. Bolling.

Prof. Luise Haessler, of Brooklyn College: Middle High German houbetstat.

Prof. Ephraim Cross, of City College (New York City): Some Obscure Romance Etymologies explained by contamination or analogy. Discussion by Mr. Olli.

Prof. Charles Barrett Brown, of Vanderbilt University: Homo as an Indeterminate Pronoun. Discussion by Messrs. Rice, Cross, Miss Hahn, Messrs. Roedder, Trager.

Prof. E. A. Speiser, of the University of Pennsylvania: The Name Φολιῖνες. Discussion by Messrs. Whorf, Kent, Whatmough, Faye.

Adjournment was taken at 12.45 P.M.

The Fourth Session of the Linguistic Society was held on the afternoon of Friday, December 27, in the College Hall of the Hotel Astor. President Bloomfield called the meeting to order at 2.23 P.M. About 100 persons were present at the session. The reading of papers was at once begun:

Mr. John Phelps, of Baltimore: Indo-European Initial sl-. Discussion by Messrs. Buck, Scherer, Raymond, Paschall.

Prof. Kemp Malone, of The Johns Hopkins University: Phonemes and Phonemic Correlations in Current English. Discussion by Messrs. Swadesh, Bloch.

Prof. Franklin Egerton, of Yale University: Notes on the Inflections of Buddhistic Hybrid Sanskrit. Discussion by Messrs. Cross, Kurath.

Dr. Bernard Bloch, of Brown University: On the Interpretation of the Linguistic Atlas Records; illustrated with lantern-slides. Discussion by Messrs. Swadesh, Allen, Kurath, Ward.

Prof. Hans Kurath, of Brown University: The Speech of Coastal New England; illustrated by lantern-slides. Discussion by Messrs. Allen, Sturtevant, Cross, Paschall.

Dr. Ruth E. Moore Bechtel, of Chicago: The Messapic klaohizis Formula. Discussion by Messrs. Edgerton, Sturtevant, Whatmough, Gray, Buck.

Adjournment was taken at 5.00 P.M.

A joint dinner of the Linguistic Society of America, the American Philological Association, and the Archaeological Institute of America, was held at half-past seven o'clock on the evening of Friday, December 27, in the North Ballroom of the Hotel Astor. About 400 persons were present. President Ullman of the Philological Association presided and introduced the speakers:

Prof. Wilbert L. Carr, of Columbia University, for the Local Committee.
Prof. Miles L. Hanley, of the University of Wisconsin, for the Linguistic Society.

Prof. Arthur S. Pease, of Harvard University, for the Philological Association.

Prof. George H. Chase, of Harvard University, for the Archaeological Institute.

Prof. Carl W. Blegen, of the University of Cincinnati, the main speaker of the evening, on The University of Cincinnati Excavations at Troy.

The Fifth Session of the Linguistic Society was held on the morning of Saturday, December 28, in the College Hall of the Hotel Astor. The Secretary called the meeting to order at 9.35 A.M. Prof. L. C. Barret, of the Executive Committee, presided during the first paper, and President Bloomfield presided during the remainder of the session. About 80 persons were present at the meeting. The reading of papers was at once begun:

- Mr. B. L. Whorf, of Wethersfield, Conn.: The Punctual and Segmentative Aspects of Verbs in Hopi. Discussion by Messrs. Kent, Senn, Trager, Cross, Kerns.
- Prof. George S. Lane, of the Catholic University of America: A Question of Phonology in the History of the Preterit Plural of Strong Verbs in Germanic. Discussion by Messrs. Senn, Kerns.
- Prof. George L. Trager, of Adams State Teachers College (Alamosa, Colo.): The Survival of Spanish [h] from Latin f, in Colorado. Discussion by Messrs. Kent, Cross.
- Prof. E. H. Sturtevant, of Yale University: Some Hittite Etymologies. Discussion by Messrs. Götze, Senn, Bolling, Kerns, Trager, Swadesh.
- Prof. E. Adelaide Hahn, of Hunter College: The Origin of the Conjunctions Greek  $\delta$  ( $\delta\tau\iota$ ), Latin quod, Hittite kwit. Discussion by Mr. Kellogg.
- Dr. Eva Fiesel, of Yale University: The Interpretation of an Etruscan Inscription.

The following papers were presented by title only:

- Prof. Frank R. Blake, of The Johns Hopkins University: A Scientific Synthesis of Individual Languages.
- Prof. Frank R. Blake, of The Johns Hopkins University: The Necessity for a new Comparative Grammar of the Semitic Languages.
- Dr. Stanley S. Newman, of Yale University: A Description of Stress Accents in Modern English.
- Prof. Harold D. Rose, of Bowling Green State University (Ohio): Wanted, A Semantic 'Alphabet'.
- Prof. Carl Selmer, of Hunter College: The Pobleto Catalan Ms. (16th Century), a translation of the lost Latin Narbonne Ms. of the Regula S. Benedicti.
- Prof. Frederick H. Wilkens, of New York University: The Stimmung of Sievers's Schallanalyse.

A short business session was then held.

Prof. E. P. Davis formally presented the report of the Committee on Nominations, which because of one withdrawal differed slightly from that announced in the Circulars of the Meeting; and in the absence of nominations from the floor, which were called for by the President, the report was adopted in the usual manner, and the nominees were declared elected, for terms beginning at the end of the meeting:

President, Prof. George T. Flom, Univ. of Illinois.

Vice-President, Prof. Harold H. Bender, Princeton Univ.

Secretary and Treasurer, Prof. Roland G. Kent, Univ. of Pennsylvania.

Executive Committee, the preceding, and

Prof. Samuel E. Bassett, Univ. of Vermont.

Prof. Albrecht Götze, Yale Univ.

Prof. Miles L. Hanley, Univ. of Wisconsin.

Committee on Publications:

Chairman and Editor, Prof. George Melville Bolling, Ohio State Univ.

To serve through 1938: Prof. W. Freeman Twaddell, Univ. of Wisconsin.

Prof. J. Whatmough now presented the report of the Committee on Resolutions, which was unanimously adopted, as follows:

The Committee on Resolutions proposes that the warmest thanks of the Linguistic Society be accorded to the Local Committee, and especially to its Chairman, Prof. W. L. Carr, for the admirable arrangements which it made for our reception in New York; to the Secretaries of the associated Societies, the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America, in particular to Prof. R. C. Flickinger, for cooperation in making arrangements for the meetings; to the several individuals and organizations which have opened their collections and museums to our members; and to the Hotel Astor, especially Mr. W. M. Nigey, for many courtesies; and last but not least, the Committee on Resolutions proposes that the Society renew its expression of gratitude to its indefatigable Secretary, Prof. R. G. Kent, whose constant care for the Society's well-being has made the Society what it is.

Adjournment was taken at 12.25 P.M.

The Sixth Session of the Linguistic Society was held on the afternoon of Saturday, December 28, in the East Ballroom of the Hotel Astor, jointly with the American Philological Association. President Ullman of the Philological Association called the meeting to order at 2.05 P.M., and presided through the session. About 200 persons were present. The reading of papers was at once begun:

Prof. Leonard Bloomfield, of the University of Chicago, President of the Linguistic Society of America: Language or Ideas?

- Dr. Edith F. Clafin, of the Brearley School: The Middle Voice in the Vulgate.
- Dr. Mary R. Haas, of Yale University: Noun Classification in Tunica, an American Indian Language of Louisiana. Discussion by Messrs. Whorf, Bolling, Prindle.
- Prof. Roy K. Hack, of the University of Cincinnati: Was Homer Illiterate? Discussion by Messrs. Sturtevant, Prentiss, Miss Clafin, Messrs. Raymond, Hubbell, Lebel, Ullman, Carr, Senn.
- Dr. Mason Hammond, of Harvard University: Plato in Central New York.
- Dr. Louise Adams Holland, of Philadelphia: Janus and the Bridge; illustrated with lantern-slides.
- Prof. Roland G. Kent, of the University of Pennsylvania: The t of German tausend. Discussion by Messrs. Roedder, Lebel, Miss Haessler.
- Dr. Mitchell Levensohn, of Yale University: The Peculiarities of Xenophon's Oeconomicus.

The following papers, offered by the Philological Association, were presented by title only:

- Prof. Frank R. Blake, of The Johns Hopkins University: A Scientific Synthesis of Greek and Latin.
- Dr. Christopher George Brouzas, of West Virginia University: The Complexion of Sappho and the Meaning of ἰόπλοκος.
- Dr. Frederick Malcolm Combella, of the University of California: The ὥς φάτο Formula in Greek Epic.
- Prof. Ephraim Cross, of City College, New York City: The Latin Basis for Italian me lo, etc.
- Prof. E. Adelaide Hahn, of Hunter College: The Dum Proviso Clause.
- Mr. Eric Alfred Havelock, of Victoria College, University of Toronto: The One and the Many.

Adjournment was taken at 5.30 P.M.

CONSTITUTION
LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA

AS AMENDED TO END OF 1935

ARTICLE I. NAME AND OBJECT

1. This Society shall be known as the LINGUISTIC SOCIETY OF AMERICA.

2. Its object shall be the advancement of the scientific study of language.

ARTICLE II. MEMBERS

1. There shall be five classes of membership: active members, life members, benefactors, honorary members, subscribing members.

2. Any person may become an active member of the Society by a vote of the Executive Committee and the payment of five dollars as an initiation fee, which shall be considered the first annual fee.

3. On or before December 31 in each year each active member shall pay to the Treasurer an annual fee of five dollars. If this fee is not paid, no publications of the Society shall be sent to such person during his default, except upon the terms upon which those who are not members may secure them. Such members in default may receive the publications upon payment of all arrears. Members in arrears for two years shall be dropped from membership.

4. Any active member may become a Life Member by payment at one time, in addition to the dues of the current year, of the sum of One Hundred Dollars, less half the amount already paid in annual dues.

5. Any active member may become a Benefactor by payment at one time, including the dues of the current year, of the sum of not less than Two Hundred Fifty Dollars. Benefactors shall have all the privileges of membership, including the receipt of publications, and may also designate a library which shall without further payment receive in perpetuity the publications of the Society which are distributed to members.

6. Any active member who has retired from the active exercise of teaching or other profession may, on the recommendation of the Executive Committee and the vote of the Society, be relieved from further payment of annual dues without loss of any of the privileges of active membership.

7. Any foreign scholar of distinction in linguistic studies, not resident in North America, may be elected an Honorary Member, by a five-sixths vote of the Society in its annual business session, provided such scholar has received the recommendation of the Executive Committee. Not more than six honorary members shall be elected at the first election, and thereafter not more than three in any one year. The total number of honorary members shall not exceed twenty-five. Any active member may submit nominations to the Executive Committee.

8. Any library or institution may become a Subscribing Member by payment of Five Dollars annually, and shall have all the privileges of active members, except that of participation in the business meeting of the Society.

9. Life Members, Benefactors, and Honorary Members are free from further payment of dues.

10. All classes of members are entitled to receive the publications of the Society without further charge, except in the case of larger publications issued under special conditions and outside subventions.

11. The sums received as dues of Life Members and Benefactors shall be set aside as endowment, and shall be invested in interest-bearing securities, only the income thereof to be used for current expenses, including those of publication. The Treasurer and two members of the Society, appointed by the Executive Committee, shall be the trustees of the Endowment Fund.

ARTICLE III. OFFICERS

1. The Officers shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer.

2. There shall be an Executive Committee, composed of the above Officers and three other members of the Society.

3. There shall be a Committee on Publications, which shall consist of four members of the Society. One of these, to be designated Chairman of the Committee and Editor of the Publications of the Society, shall be elected annually by the Society. The three members at large shall serve for a term of three years, except that of the three persons chosen at the first meeting one shall serve for one year and one for two years. Thereafter one member of the Committee shall be chosen at each annual meeting.

4. Officers shall be elected annually, and any member shall be free to make nominations.

ARTICLE IV. MEETINGS

1. There shall be an annual meeting of the Society, at such time and place as shall be determined at a previous meeting, or by the Executive Committee.

2. The Executive Committee shall make all arrangements for the annual meetings.

3. The Executive Committee may call special meetings.

4. Titles and descriptions of papers to be read before the Society must be submitted to the Executive Committee beforehand, and their disposition of such papers, including a possible limitation of the time to be devoted to them, shall be final.

ARTICLE V. PUBLICATION

1. The Committee on Publications shall have charge of all publications of the Society, and shall have power to order their publication upon certification of the Treasurer that sufficient money is available.

2. Nothing in this Article shall prevent the publication of occasional bulletins by the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE VI. AMENDMENTS

1. Amendments to this Constitution may be made by vote of two-thirds of the members present at any annual meeting, provided that the proposed amendment has been presented in writing to the Executive Committee, and the text of the proposed amendment has been sent to all members not less than one month previous to such meeting.

2. At any time within three years after the organization of the Society, the Executive Committee may request the Secretary to mail to all active members a copy of any amendment to this Constitution which may seem to them to be required. Such an amendment may be adopted by an affirmative vote by mail of two thirds of the active members of the Society.

THE PREPARATION OF COPY FOR PRINTING

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTRIBUTORS

CONTRIBUTORS are asked to read the following pages carefully. Typescripts which fail to conform reasonably to these instructions will have to be returned to the Authors for retyping.

GEORGE MELVILLE BOLLING, Editor.

ROLAND G. KENT, Business Manager.

The Author should arrange his article (or longer work) to agree with the model furnished by recent issues of LANGUAGE and other publications of the Society. This will relieve the Editor of much labor in preparing the copy for the printer; will reduce the charges paid by the Society or by the Author for proof-corrections; will cause the Author's views to be presented more effectively; and will aid in maintaining the Society's standard of quality in its publications.

THE FOLLOWING SPECIFIC SUGGESTIONS are made; every item is the outcome of past experience, often toilsome and expensive. The Business Manager will be glad to answer inquiries on any point, or to give further advice.

I. ALL COPY must be typewritten, double-spaced throughout, with ample margins on all four sides (at least  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches at left); this enables corrections and directions to be inserted without destroying the legibility.

Two copies should be made, the Author retaining one; losses are rare, but they do occur. The original copy should be sent to the printer; a carbon copy is likely to become smeary and illegible, especially where there are special characters. The pages of the copy should be numbered serially in the upper right-hand corner.

The keys of the typewriter should be kept clean, and a fresh ribbon, making heavy black letters, should be used.

The paper should be of standard size ( $8\frac{1}{2}$  by 11 inches). When additions are made, do not paste parts of sheets together in such a way as to make sheets of abnormal length, but make two (or more) sheets of full size, even though neither one is filled with text. Retype any sheets or parts of sheets that have become hard to read because of corrections or additions.

II. FOOTNOTES should be numbered consecutively within the article (or chapter of a longer work), and should be typed, double-spaced, on a sheet or series of sheets placed after the main text; they should never be typed on the same sheet with the main text. In them should go most exact references and all matter that interferes with the easy reading of the text and is not immediately essential to the argument. The reference-number in the text, as well as before the footnote itself, should be a raised numeral (not a numeral in parenthesis or with a half-parenthesis); it is helpful to write this numeral conspicuously also in the left-hand margin.

III. UNDERLINES made on the typewriter, besides being hard to alter, are likely to hit the bottoms of g j p q y and make them illegible, or to make it impossible to put in with clearness any diacritics which go under the letter. Underline with pencil, passing below all diacritics.

One underline means italics.

Two underlines mean SMALL CAPITALS (Roman).

Three underlines mean LARGE CAPITALS (Roman).

Four underlines (under small letters) mean LARGE CAPITALS, italic.

One wavy underline means bold-faced type.

IV. DIACRITICS added to typed letters, handwritten special characters, and Greek characters should be written with extra care. The diacritics which go over or under letters should be placed in their precise position, and not between letters. Do not reverse the comma under c in ç and the like. Place in the left margin, somewhat enlarged, a drawing of any peculiar character or letter with diacritic of unusual nature.

In writing Greek, distinguish the breathings, which are curved, from the accents, which are straight lines. Draw the following letters carefully, since they are likely to be confused by the compositor:

γ and λ (do not make them backward; use two strokes for each).

δ and θ (avoid the form ϑ).

ρ and φ (avoid the form ϕ).

ζ and ξ; η and π; κ and χ.

ν and υ; ο and σ; τ and ι or ῑ.

When δ is placed in the margin as a correction, write beside it 'Greek delta'; otherwise the compositor will consider it the direction to delete the character which it is to replace.

V. BE CONSISTENT in the system of references, and in the use of italics, abbreviations, and punctuation.

VI. REFERENCES: Names of books, journals, and articles are to be set in Roman type, not in italics nor in quotation marks. They should not be unduly abbreviated at their first occurrence, but should be abbreviated when cited thereafter; but names of modern authors should never be abbreviated.

Avoid Roman numerals in citations; use Arabic numerals exclusively.

Use a dot between numerals belonging to the same reference, and a comma or semicolon between numerals belonging to different references, according to the scheme in Aeneid 1.25, 43; 2.78 (book 1, verses 25 and 43, and book 2, verse 78).

Use a raised figure to indicate the edition of a work.

Omit useless numerals: write 343-8 rather than 343-348.

Before f. and ff. (for one or more following pages), there should be a blank space, as in 43 f., 43 ff.; but it is much better to give first and last pages (43-4, 43-55), and to avoid the use of f. and ff.

All numerals in references are understood to be volume and page, or (of classical authors) book, chapter, and section; write vol. (never merely v.) before the volume number if no page is given. If the reference is to a numbered section or paragraph, set § before the numeral.

Never write p. or pp. for page or pages, unless a misunderstanding is likely to result from the omission. Never use v. for verse or for volume, nor l. for line; they may be mistaken for Roman numerals.

Use the small l and not the capital I to denote the numeral one; few typewriters have the special character 1 for the numeral. If the numeral 1 occurs mixed in with words, as in transliteration of cuneiform, put a note in the margin that it is a numeral, for the compositor cannot distinguish the two uses of the typed letter l when in a foreign language.

If in a reference the place, publisher, and year (or any of these items) should be given, set them in parentheses after the page-number.

VII. ABBREVIATIONS: note TAPA ZfDA RhM Lang. AJP

Such abbreviations are not to be interrupted by dots nor by spaces, and if ending in a capital are not to be followed by a dot. Do not use op. cit., id., ib., and the like, unless the previous citation is immediately preceding.

Do not use 2. and 3. for second and third, but write 2nd and 3d.

VIII. ITALICS are to be used for linguistic examples only; do not use them for book titles, journals, etc., nor for abbreviations like e.g., i.e., op. cit.

Do not use italics for emphasis, but recast the sentence so that it will give the proper meaning automatically. If it is necessary to give prominence to an important statement, use small capitals.

IX. PUNCTUATION should be inserted with care; especially, note the following practices:

Avoid the illogical use of apparently coordinate commas in two values, as in: Homer, Ennius, the father of Roman poetry, Vergil, etc.

Place a comma before the and which separates the last of a list of three (or more) items from the preceding item: Tom, Dick, and Harry.

Use single quotation marks only; but double quotations marks are used for a quotation inside a quotation.

For a parenthesis inside a parenthesis, use square brackets.

Use the hyphen properly in compounds, as in: a German-speaking Italian, fixed word-order, five-stroke letter, a near-by house; consult a good dictionary to learn the standard usage, and do not be ashamed to consult it frequently.

Do not set at the end of a line a hyphen which is to be printed; the compositor will throw it away. Put the entire compound word on the next line.

A dash is to be typed as two hyphens between two words, without blank space before or after; with pen or pencil, join the two hyphens to make one line. No punctuation should precede a dash, except sometimes ? or ! before the second of two dashes; added punctuation should rarely follow the second dash.

The colon should be used before long appositives, such as lists or quotations, or statements which repeat in other words the statement preceding the colon.

No dot should be placed after centered headings nor after centered lines in the text (except the normal punctuation at the end of a quotation in verse).

The dot after an abbreviation may be followed by another mark of punctuation, and in citations like Livy 2.22.2 no blank spaces should precede or follow the dots. Otherwise, in typing, leave one blank space after every punctuation mark within the sentence, and two blank spaces after each sentence-end; except that a space is left before (and not after) the first half of a parenthesis or the like and before the prior of a set of quotation marks.

Never use half-parentheses, such as 2), in numerations.

But if a punctuation mark is read as a word, it is both preceded and followed by a blank space: to : te (to varying with te).

X. GLOSSES must be enclosed in single quotation marks, and must not be separated from their words by commas: ovis 'sheep' is a Latin word. No comma follows the gloss unless it would follow the word if the gloss were omitted: ovis 'sheep', equus 'horse', etc. (like ovis, equus, etc.).

XI. BIBLIOGRAPHY: Each listing should include author's name, with first name in full; title of book (or of journal, sometimes of article and of journal); edition (if there is more than one); page, or volume and page (or pages); place of publication, name of publisher, year of publication. The last three items should be in parenthesis or preceded by a semicolon. The author's last name should precede the first name only in an alphabetized list, where the initial is to be made prominent. Within any one listing, dots should be used only after abbreviations; otherwise the listing is divided into separate sentences.

Note these sample listings, representing various good styles in an alphabetized list (use one style only in any one article or book):

Ernout, Alfred, and Antoine Meillet, Dictionnaire étymologique de la Langue latine; Paris, Klincksieck, 1932.

Moore, Samuel: Loss of Final n in Inflectional Syllables of Middle English; in Lang. 3.232-59 (1927).

For references other than those in a formal bibliography, note the following models:

Verg. Aen. 1.37 (no comma after Verg. because of the dot).

Brugmann, Gdr.<sup>2</sup> 1.95 (comma after author's name).

XII. TABLE OF CONTENTS: Any Monograph or Dissertation should be divided into chapters, each with a carefully worded heading, which, if possible, should not exceed one line of print. These headings should be assembled verbatim as a Table of Contents.

XIII. THE TITLE of any article or book should be so worded that the first part of it, amounting to not over 35 letters, adequately indicates its contents, and can be used as a running head to the pages, as well as for easy identification of the article or book.

XIV. TABLES must be so arranged that the lines are not too long for the width of the printed page; no line, including blank spaces, can exceed 60 spaces on the typewriter. References in the text to Tables or Plates must be by number (Table 5, etc.) and not to the foregoing or the following table; exigencies of composition often cause change in their position relative to a specific piece of text. Special instructions must be asked for with regard to mechanically reproduced Plates.

XV. INDEXES should be typed in one column only on each sheet. The typed material may run across the sheet; the Editor will decide in how many columns it should be printed.

XVI. ENGLISH: Scientific writing should be clothed in dignified standard English. Be careful of the form in which you present your work; nothing is gained, and something is lost, by the use of words or locutions at which even a few readers will take offense.

The Secretary of the Society will on request send to any member a list of the infelicities and the like, which have most often been found in the typescripts submitted.

XVII. THE FINISHING TOUCH: When the typescript has been prepared in conformity with these instructions, go through it thoughtfully and strike out every word which fails to contribute something to the argument; eliminate rhetoric, and make of it a concise, business-like presentation of facts, argument, and conclusions. Then send it to the Editor.

PS: The Editor and the Business Manager have done this with these Instructions.
